January, 2013 review

(OBS*) Call for Papers SUBMISSIONS FOR VOLUME 7 (2013) ARE OPEN

Observatorio (OBS*) is an international interdisciplinary e-journal that publishes peer-reviewed articles. It presents empirical and theoretical research aiming at promoting a better understanding of communication phenomena. The journal extends its scope from issues related to media and the novel usages of the Internet, through the challenges surrounding the evolution of new media platforms, to the dynamics of service innovation in the telecommunications industry. It welcomes work from academics, practitioners and policy-makers and is open to contributions coming from all branches of social science inquiry and the humanities.

Its formula of Open Access ensures maximum of public availability of research work. Free access papers going through a sound scholarly process of peer-review present a mix of key advantages to authors and readers such as high scientific standards and worldwide ready dissemination.

The multilingual approach of (OBS*) is one of its distinctive characteristics. The e-journal accepts and publishes manuscripts submitted in English, Spanish, Italian, French, Portuguese, Catalan and Galician.

(OBS*) online

“Having now published its twenty-fourth open access issue and a total of 358 papers, (OBS*) achieved more than 552000 downloads up to the month of January 2013. (OBS*) is already one of the most successful journals in terms of audience within the broad field of Communication research”.
